Dance Company Project Bandaloop to Perform “Art in Motion” while Catapulting down Hotel Palomar’s Exterior Walls

What: In preparation for Hotel Palomar Dallas’ October 19th grand opening party, the Brooke Berman Gallery presents Project Bandaloop, a modern dance company with a vertical stage, to showcase its gravity-defying performance on the exterior walls of Hotel Palomar Dallas. Join awestruck Dallasites as they marvel at the Project Bandaloop cast rehearse its custom choreographed routine on the walls of the hotel on Wednesday, October 18 at 1-4 p.m. and then again at 7-9 p.m.

In line with the hotel’s story of “Art in Motion,” the Brooke Berman Gallery strives to bring new works of art into the community and will showcase its masterpiece, Project Bandaloop. The dance company travels the nation and the world to perform on buildings and natural wonders alike turning the dance floor sideways and redefining gravity’s relationship to movement. Together, Brooke Berman Gallery and Project Bandaloop are aiming to inspire art in anyone who watches.

About Hotel Palomar:

Hotel Palomar Dallas is Kimpton's first foray into the Texas market, with 198 guestrooms and suites and more than 9,000 square feet of total meeting space. Located in the heart of Dallas' thriving Park Cities neighborhood, the hotel is convenient to the 60-acre Arts District, Highland Park Village, expansive Dallas Galleria and the city's two major airports. Additionally, the property features 72 high-end luxury condominiums and villas, an infinity pool and spa surrounded by casita's, over 25,000 square feet of high-end retail space, Dallas' first highly acclaimed transformational mind and body destination spa, exhale, an American food and cocktails concept, Central 214, and the original Polynesian hot-spot, Trader Vic's.

About Project Bandaloop:

Project Bandaloop honors nature, community, and the human spirit through dance. The company, under the artistic direction of Amelia Rudolph, creates a blend of dance, sport, ritual, and environmental awareness. Inspired by the possibilities of climbing and rappelling, the choreography draws on aerial, vertical and horizontal movement to craft dances, many site-specific. Since 1991, the company has enjoyed performing for close to half a million people.

When: Wednesday, October 18, 2006
1-4 p.m. & 7-9 p.m.
